The first generation of CADinTools Macros were written by Eric Collins of ERIC5 Studios. He was responsible for designing the original macro, and was granted permission to publish it to the public. Eric Collins has now handed the project over to Allan Grigorev, who has done a superb job in building the second generation of macros. Please enjoy this second generation macro with more function, new features and user-friendly environment. Included in the download is a compiled Excel format of the macro. Simply double-click on the EXCEL file to import it into Excel and get started with your measurements. More information about how to set the "run on import" option in Excel is in the HELP file at the end of the EXCEL macro. NOTE: This macro is a FREE DOWNLOAD for ALL CorelDRAW users, but not a commercial product. Like to know more about CADinTools Macros? For more information, please visit CADinTools Macros website. ..... KEYMACRO is a lightweight clipboard manager and web browser extension which allows you to select text, links and images on a web page or the current address bar and send them all to your cloud storage with one click. It is a clipboard manager which can also be used to convert a specific content into a web archive format for easy uploading. This extension works in a similar way to the AutoCopy extension which we have previously tested. It uses an improved algorithm in order to display the chosen content in different formats on different pages. A recent update enabled it to work on mouse-click context menus which is a great addition because it makes it possible to select text, links and images without having to switch between the programs and focus on the content.

However, we would have appreciated a better design which would have been easier to use. The context menu allows you to import the content into your clipboard and remove it from the browser. However, the copy function is placed in a separate tab. In addition, we were surprised to see that it deletes the current page before uploading the new content. The extension allows you to upload the selected text to Google Drive, Google Docs and Twitter. In case you save a document on the cloud or have multiple cloud storage accounts, you can also specify the default folder for your content. Since the extension can only be used with Chrome, you can't directly access your selected content. Moreover, the extension can only be installed on pages which contain text. KEYMACRO lets you convert and upload web content with a single click and provides you with the opportunity to use different accounts. It's a good way to backup images and documents on the cloud which you can quickly send to your favorite social media account.
