avolites is proud to be the first company in the world to solve this problem, said avolites ceo chris skelton, adding: avolites has always been very innovative, but this is the first time weve been able to attack the problem head on. were hoping to see this industry-wide and a recognition that this is an issue that needs to be addressed. avolites titan one the first of a new generation of lighting control and console desktops. the avolites titan 1 is a new generation desktop, combining a number of key functions into one sleek, compact unit. the titan pc suite from avolites is a virtual console which can be operated from you desktop. the titan t1 is the interface which outputs dmx. similar to grandma on pc, chamsys magicq software, etc eos software and hog 4 pcthe titan pc suite is a cost-effective way of running small lighting rigs and video output. enlighten is an easy-to-use lighting control software system that relies on a step-by-step process to create looks and sequences. looks can be programmed as buttons and grouped into faders, creating a visual and user-friendly method of lighting control. mega systems says enlighten was designed so volunteers and beginner lighting operators can learn how to use the unit and create spectacular light shows. enlighten software has four hardware options to meet the needs of churches including the enlighten dongle, enlighten splitter, enlighten wing or enlighten one console. not much to say about titan os but the titan one is perfect for pre show programming, very reliable for small gigs or club nights. obviously the lack of physical faders and playbacks does not allow much flexibility for busking but overall if you plan things well its amazing. price is very reasonable and white light at the moment is the cheapest you can find it. delivery dates and tracking were spot on and guys were fast to respond in a couple of questions i had. the 4 stars is for avolites only because of the lack of a reasonable priced pc wing compared to other desks (chamsys, m-pc etc).
